Enrollment Shows a Ten Percent Increase Breaking All Previous University Records

A NEW ALL-TIME enrollment record was established at Ohio University this fall when 2,761 students complied with the numerous little formalities required by Registrar F. B. Dille and Treasurer George C. Parks. The enrollment for last year's first semester was 2,510, while the previous "high" was 2,598, the figure for 1930-31.

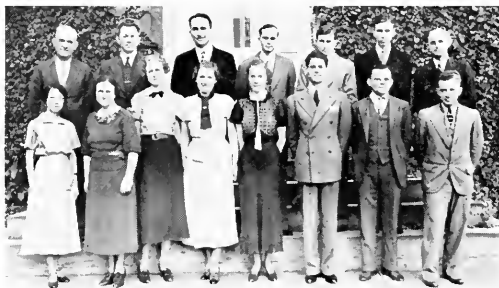

It is gratifying to all friends of the University to note that, while the average increase in enrollment in colleges and universities throughout the United States is estimated to be around 5%, Ohio University has enjoyed an increase of exactly 10% over last year.

An analysis of enrollment statistics discloses that of the 36 counties visited last spring and summer by members of the faculty under the sponsorship of the University's public relations committee, 26 counties show a total increase of 269 students this fall, eight counties show a total decrease of 19 students, and two counties produced no change in their previous totals. The increase for Cuyahoga county was from 217 to 331, a net gain of 114 students.

Of the 88 counties in Ohio, only three—Champaign, Morrow, and Wood—are unrepresented on the campus this year. Twenty-five states, France, and Canada, have contributed to the portion of the student population whose homes are beyond the border lines of Ohio. An increase of 54 students is to be noted for the contiguous states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, and Michigan.

To meet the added demands put upon the teaching staff by the larger student body, and to replace those who have secured leaves, retired, or otherwise severed their connections with the University, twenty-six persons have been called to the faculty. Four of the new members of the instructional force are United States Army officers who comprise the staff of the department of Military Science and Tactics. The new military men are Col. Thomas F. McNeill, transferred from the Twenty-first Infantry, in Hawaii; Maj. M. E. Olmstead, assigned from Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming; Capt. Frederick Pearson, transferred from the Howe Military Academy, Indiana; and Sgt. George Wallace, whose last previous assignment was with the R.O.T.C. at Ohio State University. Captain Pearson is a West Pointer.

SOME OF THE NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Dr. Howard L. Dunlap, who graduated from Ohio University in 1912, and whose doctorate was taken at Ohio State University, succeeds Dr. W. B. Bentley, retired, as head of the chemistry department. Dr. Dunlap has had 25 years of teaching experience, including 19 years at the University of Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, from which he came to the Ohio campus.

Dr. Robert Gates Dawes, a graduate of Swarthmore College, with a doctorate from Temple University, is a new professor of dramatic art and speech and director of the University Theater. Dr. Dawes has had previous teaching experience at the Mississippi State College for Women, the University of North Carolina, and Hiram College.

Dr. Clarence L. Dow, who comes as associate professor of geography and geology, taking the place of Miss Jane K. Atwood, recently married, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with baccalaureate and advanced degrees from that school. He was a member of the faculty at Nebraska Wesleyan for 5 years and has taught at the University of Illinois.

Twelve persons with the rank of instructor, four with that of visiting instructor, and two assistants are new to Ohio University this year. The instructors and their subjects are: Dr. William O. Martin, philosophy; Dr. Donald R. Roberts, English; Dr. John P. Emery, English; Gerald O. Dykstra, business law; Carl H. Denbow, mathematics; Florence K. Schumacher, secretarial studies; Grace M. Morley, school music; William H. Kirchner, English; Lillian Colley, '20, classical languages; Alma Brown, physical welfare; Lila Miller, secretarial studies; Gertrude Yeselson, physical welfare; and Edith A. Prentice, '36 (M.A.), English. Miss Prentice will also serve as head of Howard Hall, a dual capacity similar to that of her predecessor, Miss Mary Helen Fretts, now dean of women at Ohio Wesleyan University. The visiting instructors are Dr. Paul G. Krauss, German; Dr. Malcolm B. Jones, romance languages; Melvin E. Valk, German; Arthur J. Bronstein, dramatic art and speech.

The assistants are Mary Elizabeth Ellis, in violin, and Karl G. Frische, in the School of Music.

Numerous minor administrative and departmental staff changes and additions have brought several Ohio University graduates into official relationships with their alma mater. These graduates and their positions are: Theresa Heiser, '36, stenographer, office of the dean of women, and proctor, Warden Cottage; Lawrence I. Goldberg, '34 ('36, M.A.), technical assistant in zoology; Phyllis Duerr, '36, secretary to the dean, College of Applied Science, and to the chairman, College of Fine Arts Committee; Agnes Counihan, '36, secretary in the Bureau of Appointments; Raymond D. Chapman, '31, curator in the storeroom of the department of chemistry; Margaret Keehne Davis, '32; assistant to the director of dining halls; William A. Harmon, '36, bookkeeper in the office of the treasurer; Margaret Porter, '35, secretary to the director of physical welfare; and Lillian Williamson, '33, assistant to the director of dining halls.

Graduates of other schools taking staff positions are: Marcella Hunter, (State Teachers' College, Wayne, Nebr.), assistant in office, dean of education; Harriett Mason, (Ohio Wesleyan), secretary, office of dean of men; Mildred Peters, (Marietta), secretary, office of the registrar; Margaret Burtner, (Otterbein), stenographer in the Bureau of Appointments; and Genevieve Porterfield, (U. of Chicago), children's librarian.

Thirteen fellowships have been awarded, eight of which were to Ohio University's own graduates. The recipients of the fellowships, and the fields in which the advanced study will be pursued, are: Paul J. DeSio, '36, romance languages; Margaret Flory, '36, dramatic art and speech; John W. Kaiser, '36, mathematics; Rubin Katz, '35, physics; Martin C. Londergan, '36, chemistry; Marcella Long, '34, and Gladys Rhodes, '36, education; Marjorie Wason, '36, Robert L. Hutchison (Wooster), Margaret Schramm (Marietta), and Leslie D. Beadle (State Teachers College, Platteville, Wis.), zoology; Rebecca Ruggles (Radcliffe), and Benton E. Jones (Baldwin-Wallace), English.

Five graduate student deans and two graduate student dietitians will divide their time between study and supervisory activities. Ruth Knoch, '35, and Martha Paxton (Miami), are the dietitians.

The graduate deans, who will be seeking the degree of Master of Arts in Supervision and Guidance of Student Life, are: Helen Colesie (University of California); Esther Collicott (Ohio State); Barbara Menges (University of Illinois); Irene Elizabeth Smith (University of Oregon); and Florence Thompson (Indiana State Teachers College).

Galbreath and Mayes Elected To Head Alumni Association

An important Alumni Day event of the June Commencement was the election of officers to serve the Ohio University Alumni Association for 1936-37.

John W. Galbreath, '20, Columbus, association vice-president, was elected

Meet the New President

JOHN W. GALBREATH

to succeed G. Floyd Cooper, '15, South Bend, Ind., as president. Mr. Galbreath is president of the Franklin County alumni chapter and is a past international president of the Mercator Club, a civic service organization. As head of John W. Galbreath & Company, realtors, "Jack" is known as one of Columbus' most successful and active young business men. Outside the office, he is one of Central Ohio's leading sportsmen, being a member of a polo team, and the owner of a string of fine polo ponies and runners. He is married — to the former Helen Mauck, '19 — and is the father of two children.

Dr. Harry W. Mayes, '08, Brooklyn, N. Y., was chosen as a successor to Mr. Galbreath in the office of vice-president. Doctor Mayes, a physician, has served two terms as president of the New York chapter, and is the father of Burton Mayes, a pre-med student enrolled in Ohio University at the present time.

For secretary and for treasurer, Clark E. Williams, '21, and William H. Fenzel, '18, respectively, were named to succeed themselves. The former has now entered upon his fifteenth year, while the latter has twelve full years to his credit. Mr. Fenzel is associate professor of accounting and economic geography at Ohio University.

The three members of the executive committee elected were: Dean A. A. Atkinson, '91, Athens; Robert E. Rucker, '14, Worthington; and Mrs. George E. Roubush, '16, Youngstown. All three have served in executive capacities either in alumni chapters or in the general organization and are well qualified by their experiences to sit on the executive committee.

Over 500 Receive Degrees

The University Registrar, Dr. F. B. Dilley, reports 44 master's degrees, 476 baccalaureate degrees, and 143 two-year diplomas were awarded during the past school year. The degrees were granted in the following classifications and numbers: Bachelor of Science in Education, 254; Bachelor of Arts, 139; Bachelor of Arts in Commerce, 36; Bachelor of Science, 22; Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering, 9; Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering, 7; Bachelor of Music, 3; Bachelor of Secretarial Studies, 6. The diploma distribution was: Kindergarten-Primary, 17; County Education, 33; Elementary Education, 91; Special Education, 2.

Of those receiving the Master of Arts degree, 28 did their work in the College of Education, while 16 were enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences. In the future, of course, the advanced work will be done in the Graduate College.

McWilliams to the Board

Succeeding John H. Preston, '04, 2-yr., Athens, whose term as a trustee of Ohio University expired this year, Governor Davey has appointed John O. McWilliams, '13x, Cleveland, to the governing board. Trustee McWilliams, county engineer of Cuyahoga County, is president of the Western Reserve Chapter of the Ohio University Alumni Association and is a brother to Eddie (Jim) McWilliams, famous vaudeville star.

Editorial Comment . . .

IF the word "HOMECOMING" does not produce a mental tingle as you read it, or generate nostalgic thoughts of friends and scenes of other days, then, I fear, as an undergraduate, you must have omitted some of those zestful ingredients that very properly go to make up a well-rounded and satisfying college experience. For who among us did not thrill to the excitement of the Homecoming Weekend — the crowds — the joyous reunions — the big game — yes, even the noise and general confusion.

There is a day when the quick-step of the band, the colorful floats in the parade, and the lively behaviour of care-free students on a gala day, can bring again those old-time thrills — a day when we can all be young again, when we can toss aside our cares and troubles. So, what? So, let's mark it big and red on our calendars — OCTOBER 31 — and plan to trek Athensward for Ohio University's 1936 Homecoming celebration.

From present indications it seems safe to predict that the attendance of "old grads" and former students will top last year's record-breaking numbers. Featuring the day, of course, will be the gridiron contest in which the University of Cincinnati's Bearcats and Ohio University's Bobcats will claw it out to a decisive finish in one of those spectacular battles that has characterized the meetings of the two teams in recent years.

As embellishments to the feature event, there will be the annual parade, in which the sororities and fraternities compete for prizes to be awarded for the most beautiful and the most unique floats; the carnival and dance, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, in the Men's gymnasium; and a near-midnight serenade in front of Lindley Hall. Fraternity houses will be festively decorated, and everywhere the welcome sign will be out. "Open house" will be the order of the day in all dormitories, organization homes, and in many of the private homes of the city.

To help pep things up, Bandmaster Curtis Janssen has issued invitations to all members of the University Band in recent years to return with their instruments and appear in an Alumni Band which will have a prominent part in the between-halves activities at Ohio Stadium.

All in all, October 31 bids fair to be one of those days that you will always remember, if you come back to enjoy it, and the missing of which will long be a matter of sincere regret.

WERE you really a good sport, and did you read the little orange folder through to the end? If so, the repetition of the following statement is a waste of good space. But, for fear you grew weary in well-doing and did not reach those words, they are directed to you once again. And, PLEASE do not forget to return the Reply Card that accompanied the folder, even if there is no change whatever in your address or your occupation. We need the information for confirmation of our records. The card requires not a single farthing for postage.

"The last Alumni Directory was printed in 1928. Since then 5,265 diplomas have been granted by Ohio University and fully 60% of the addresses in the old directory have changed. Daily our work is handicapped because we do not have in printed and easily accessible form a complete list of all graduates by classes. The printing budget of the University has been cut so drastically that no help can be expected from that source.

"However, the need for a printed roster is so great and there have been so many requests for a directory from alumni that we have decided to publish a limited edition this year provided that at least 2,000 alumni indicate a willingness to purchase copies of the directory at 50c each. A special price of 25c per copy will be made to members of the Alumni Association.

"If published, the directory will contain a complete alphabetical list of Ohio University's 11,484 graduates (two and four-year) with the occupations and addresses of living graduates and the dates of the deaths of those deceased, and an alphabetical listing of all class groups.

"We wish that we might be able to provide a directory free of charge for every Ohio man and woman. That is obviously impossible. In order that we may know whether or not to proceed with the project, it will be necessary to hear from you at an early date. Please fill out and send in the attached card immediately. The card requires no postage."

DESPITE the new social demands being made upon the public treasury, support of education by the best minds and business interests of America must continue if genuine democracy is to prevail and function," President Herman G. James declared in an address to Ohio University students at the opening of the new school year.

Doctor James pointed out that "dictatorships which now prevail in many European countries are the result of submission to autocratic authority by peoples who do not think for themselves. America has escaped a like fate because of our system of education, but if Americans continue to sit back and assume that the present system is to continue in the face of other and new demands on the purse of the taxpayer, they may also become a nation of people who do not think. There is nothing in the American Bill of Rights or Constitution to insure this country against the fate of nations now under the control of dictators," Dr. James concluded.

On and About the Campus . . .

A POLITICAL party preference poll of 400 representative students was recently conducted by the Green and White. Selected for questioning were 100 students from each of the following classifications: Non-fraternity men; non-fraternity women; fraternity men; and fraternity women. Of these students, 227 favored the Landon candidacy, 168 were for Roosevelt, while Lemke and Browder were accorded 2 votes each, and Thomas 1. The poll disclosed a leaning toward Roosevelt and the New Deal on the part of non-fraternity students, and a corresponding interest in Landon on the part of the fraternity element.

A LARGE picture of Margaret Boyd, '73, first woman graduate of Ohio University, for whom Boyd Hall is named, has been presented to the University by Wesley Boyd Lawrence, '92, and appropriately hung in the Park Place dormitory. Among those attending the presentation ceremonies were E. J. Jones, Sr., a classmate of Miss Boyd, and Mr. Lawrence, a relative of the courageous first graduate.

Because of the strong sentiment against the admission of women to institutions of higher learning, for the first year of her attendance the name of Miss Boyd was entered in University records merely as "M. Boyd," in an effort to conceal her identity.

DURING the year 1935-36, 450 different students held N. Y. A. positions on the Ohio University campus. Of these jobs, 154 were held by women and 311 by men. Fifteen of the workers were graduate students. A total of $32,025 was paid in wages to the N. Y. A. students last year. The monthly average of names on the payrolls was 350.

For the first semester of the current year, 319 students will be beneficiaries of federal assistance to the extent of $4,108.46 per month.

MIAMI UNIVERSITY, second oldest of the state universities in Ohio, conferred upon Ohio University's president, Dr. Herman G. James, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at its Commencement exercises last June.

OHIO UNIVERSITY proudly announces that its School of Journalism is one of the 35 such professional schools in the United States that have been given a Grade A rating by the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism. Ohio State University is the only other institution in Ohio to be thus recognized.

ON AUGUST 19, University workmen removed the stump—last visible trace—of the "Old Beech" which had stood for generations on the campus in front of East Wing. After efforts of expert tree surgeons failed to retard the interior decomposition of the tree, it was cut down in 1925 as a safety measure. On the tree were the initials of students antedating the Civil War and upon it were carved the names or initials of many campus sweethearts.

LEONA HUGHES, '30, secretary to the Director of the Ohio University Extension Division, has received a card from a student in Calcutta, India, requesting information concerning correspondence study. The inquirer, P. K. Sen. Gupta, stated that he had passed matriculation examinations at Calcutta University, but had failed in the intermediate examination in art. Gupta did not mention how he had heard of the Ohio University correspondence work.

PHOENIX, former senior women's honorary group, will become a junior honorary this semester, members have recently decided. The action was taken in order to make room on the campus for the possible coming of Mortar Board, national honorary society for senior women. Mortar Board refuses to consider a petition from any school having more than one senior women's honorary organization.

PENDING the appointment of a dean for the newly-created College of Fine Arts, a provisional executive committee consisting of Prof. C. C. Robinson, director of the School of Music, as chairman, Prof. L. C. Mitchell, director of the School of Painting and Allied Arts, and Mr. Vincent Jukes, instructor in the School of Dramatic Art and Speech, will administer the affairs of the college.

THAT the English Club, founded 35 years ago by Dean E. W. Chubb, should not pass with the retirement of the Arts College head, was provided for by the appointment of a committee of three of the charter members of the club to meet this fall to make plans for a continuance and broadening of the club's activities. The members of the committee are Prof. C. N. Mackinnon, Prof. Raymond N. Slutz, and Miss Greta Lash.

THE FOLLOWING names were taken from Ohio University's 1936 football roster—and now will Notre Dame be green with envy. Adamczyk, Caruso, Cizek, Chernitski, Csenck, Donofrio, Guerra, Hirsimaki, Hyatt, Iwucz, Janiak, Jurkovic, Kovlak, Kucinskis, Laskin, Marcks, Mruzik, and Platcke. The nationalities represented are Hungarian, Polish, Jewish, Italian, Bohemian, Lithuanian, German, Czechoslovakian, and Finnish.

Plans for New Dormitory for Men Approved in Washington

Plans for Units B and C of a dormitory designed for the ultimate accommodation of 300 men students have recently been given approval by Public Works Administration officials in Washington.

The dormitory, which will be three stories in height and will take the form of a quadrangle, is to be of Georgian style architecture with brick and stone trim similar to the Alumni Memorial Auditorium and the Edwin Watts Chubb Library. The building will front on University Terrace and will extend back to Poplar Avenue. The present Hoover, Dailey, and White cottages will all be torn down or moved to make way for the new building.

The initial construction will include two units, or sections, which will house ninety men and will contain recreation and reception rooms, the entrance to the inner court, and other special features of the building. Of the $109,000 required for starting the building project, $49,100 will come from P.W.A. funds. The remaining sections of the building will be erected as State appropriations or other funds become available for them.

Receives Law School Honors

George William Shea, '33, now associated with one of the most distinguished legal firms in the country, was an honor graduate at the University of Pennsylvania last June. Continuing the brilliant record which he established as a Phi Beta Kappa man on the Ohio University campus, Shea led a senior class of 130 members of the Pennsylvania law school. On Commencement Day he was awarded the David Warner Amran prize, given annually to the student with the highest grade in the examination on Pennsylvania law practice; the Charles L. McKeehan prize for the highest general average for three years; and the Oscar Milton Davis prize of a law library for the highest general average. He previously had won a law school award in a series of court arguments conducted before a number of judges, including members of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The Amran prize was presented personally by Owen J. Roberts, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. Eastern newspapers carried pictures of Shea receiving congratulations from Judge Roberts.

On September 1, Mr. Shea left his home in Erie, Pa., to become associated in New York with Cadwalader, Wickersham, & Taft, one of Manhattan's oldest and best-known law firms.

Two Ex-Presidents Observe Birthdays in the Nineties

"I had no idea I'd have such a long recess when I retired at seventy," Dr. William Henry Scott, '62, seventh president of Ohio University, said to a newsman on the eve of his ninety-sixth birthday which he celebrated quietly at his home in Columbus on September 14.

DR. WILLIAM HENRY SCOTT

When pressed for a comment regarding his opinion of the modern student, Dr. Scott, who is also a former president of Ohio State University, replied, "There have been so many changes, you know. I think we had some pretty good material for colleges even as far back as the time I entered college. And students haven't changed much."

The aging but mentally vigorous ex-president chuckled over the fact that he is the father of four boys and two girls, the grandfather of four boys and two girls and the great-grandfather of four boys and two girls. Although his hearing is impaired, Dr. Scott enjoys good health generally. Each day he leaves his picket-fenced yard for a short walk in the neighborhood, returning to his favorite rocking chair to read of the world's happenings in magazines and to peruse editorial comments in daily newspapers.

On September 12, Dr. Charles W. Super, of Athens, who succeeded Dr. Scott in the Ohio University presidency in 1883, observed his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary. Although unable to leave his home premises and afflicted with total deafness and failing eyesight, Dr. Super still enjoys the visits of friends and former colleagues.

It is to be doubted if any university or college in the country can report two living ex-presidents of such advanced ages as Dr. Scott and Dr. Super.

Ruby Mercer Has 'Met' Debut

Before a packed house in which even standing room was sold, Ruby Mercer, '27, former Athens girl, sang the role of "Nedda" in Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" in New York City's famous Metropolitan Opera House on June 6. On November 2 Miss Mercer will appear on Broadway as one of the "leads" in Sigmund Romberg's musical comedy, "Forbidden Melody," which will have its New York premier at the New Amsterdam Theater on that date.

Miss Mercer has sung in a number of light opera and concert engagements with the Cincinnati and Saint Louis opera companies and has given a recital at the Town Hall in New York City. Her opera debut under the auspices of the "Met", however, was her big moment. Concerning this appearance, the New York Times reported that "Ruby Mercer, the young American soprano, at once revealed, with her negotiation of the part of Nedda, that in her, the Metropolitan had found a carefully-schooled singer of intelligence with a voice, which even if light in quality, became duly expressive and sensitive after her initial nervousness had departed. Miss Mercer also pleased with her appearance as an actress."

Darrell Herron, '24, who lives in Elizabeth, N. J., and who heard Miss Mercer sing last June, wrote to friends in Athens, "It certainly was thrilling to sit in the Metropolitan and see and hear Ruby sing from the same stage from which I have heard many of the greatest. She seemed to feel at home from the moment she came on to the stage. Her acting was far superior to that of many a singer of more outstanding reputation. She really entered her role."

Graduate College Appealing To Students From Wide Area

Ohio University's post-graduate offerings are attracting a great many graduates of other colleges and universities, as well as the recipients of the University's own degrees.

It is anticipated that the widely spreading reputation of the Graduate College for high-grade work, and the offering of a limited number of attractive fellowships will result in a rapid expansion of the College both as regards enrollment and courses. Dean Gametsfelder already has on file a large number of inquiries and applications from graduates of schools scattered throughout the country.

During the past few years, following the resumption of graduate work after a lapse of some score or more years, the privilege of pursuing advanced study has been largely restricted to Ohio University alumni. Henceforth, however, the graduate college will welcome properly qualified graduates of other schools.

Of the forty-four candidates who received the Master of Arts degree during the last school year, thirty-three were graduates of Ohio University. These persons were:

Jessie May Tresham, '14; James T. Pickering, '15; Orpha M. Dinsmoor, '26; Rose M. Shay, '26; Ruth E. Drake, '27; Edwin R. O'Neill, '29; W. Bennett Shimp, '29; Peryl S. Wamsley, '29; Margery M. Fisher, '30; Helena G. Gillilan, '30; Lawrence V. Calvin, '31; Aaron D. Givens, '31; Paul I. Hauserman, '31; Kathryn M. Myers, '31; Ethel M. Reese, '31; William M. Schweikert, '31; William F. Worthington, '31.

Lurene C. Brown, '31; Anna C. Cady, '32; Edwin R. Johnson, '32; Harry Lackey, '33; John G. Laskin, '33; Harry A. Staats, '33; Lawrence I. Goldberg, '34; Ruth A. Irwin, '34; Mary M. Young, '34; Katherine Boyd, '35; Denis K. Cope, '35; Mildred M. Fisher, '35; Orval F. Leckrone, '35; Josephine P. McVay, '35; Robert B. Selover, '35; Margaret L. Vandenberg, '35; William W. Williams, '36; and Jesse A. Zousmer, '35.

Twenty-three holders of baccalaureate degrees from Ohio University were advanced degrees by Ohio State University at the June or September convocations this year. The Ohioans:

Doctor of Philosophy—Ruth C.

Teeters, '17 (M. A. O. S. U.); and Frank Morgan, '27 (M. S., Purdue).

Doctor of Medicine—Ralph A. Munslow, '32.

Master of Arts—Arthur E. Buchanan, '18; Virgil E. Mauger, '20; Thomas W. Morgan, '21; Grace E. McGrath, '22; Ira Jay Reed, '22; George W. Stuart, Jr., '24; J. Willis Brown, '28; Cora E. Everson, '28; Ruth E. Thomas, '28; Gerald B. Wardell, '28; Harold E. Wise, '28; Raymond L. Skinner, '29; Evelyn B. Chisholm, '30; Elva Ann Chamblin, '32; John B. Holden, '32; Esther A. McClure, '33; William B. Cooper, '34; Dorothy L. Radford, '35; and James R. Wiand, '35.

Master of Science—Clyde H. Jones, '34.

As the information comes to his attention, the editor of The Ohio Alumnus will publish the names of other alumni who have received advanced degrees during the past year.

S. O. E. A. To Meet in Athens

The forty-second annual session of the Southeastern Ohio Education Association will convene in Athens on October 29 and 30. Dr. E. A. Hansen of the Ohio University faculty is president of the Association, while George E. Carr, '20, superintendent of the Logan public schools, is secretary-treasurer.

Among the outstanding speakers to be featured in the general and sectional meetings are Dr. Shailer Mathews, dean emeritus, University of Chicago; Dr. Herman G. James, president, Ohio University; Richard Halliburton, lecturer and traveler; Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. Marine Corps, retired; and Dean George F. Arps, College of Education, Ohio State University.

Since 1894, twenty-one Ohio University alumni or faculty members have served as presidents of the S. O. E. A. Chairmen of sectional meetings of the 1936 sessions will include Helen V. Shaw, '32, Physical Education; Olive Carpenter, '31, Geography; Clara Holliday, '31, 2-yr., Early Childhood Education; Mary Ward, '25, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades; Anna Mae Evans, '17x, Junior High School; Cecelia Marsh, '34, Art; Marguerite Goetz, '33, Special Education; and M. Hunter Macfarlan, '33, Commercial.

Death Takes Two Prominent Alumni in Recent Months

The Ohio University Alumni Association were called by death early this fall. Samuel L. McCune, '96, Cleveland succumbed to a stroke of paralysis on August 24. On September 2, Lawrence G. Worstell, '88, Athens, suffered an attack of acute indigestion and died within a few hours thereafter.

McCUNE, '96

Mr. McCune, who served as president of the Alumni Association in 1915 and again in 1920, had been a trustee of Ohio University for eleven years. He was highly successful in the field of banking, being president of the Cleveland Securities Corporation at the time of his death. He had previously been president of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Joint Stock Land Bank and president of a similar organization in New York State. For many years he was a United States national bank examiner.

WORSTELL, '88

Mr. Worstell, judge of the Athens County Common Pleas Court for twelve years, was president of the Alumni Association in 1899. During the period when funds were being raised for the Alumni Memorial Auditorium he was an active member of the Auditorium committee. Like Mr. McCune, his interest was always with Ohio University and he took great pride in the school's growth and development. He was for many years president of the Athens National Bank, and was a director or officer in many local business enterprises.

In 1889, Judge Worstell married Miss Lenore Michael, an Ohio University graduate of that year. Mrs. Worstell preceded her husband in death by only a few months, being taken on March 28, 1935. Lawrence G. Worstell, Jr., '25, only child and a Cleveland attorney, survives. For several weeks he will divide his time between Cleveland and Athens.

Bobcats' Conference Gridiron Fortunes Yet To Be Determined, Crucial Games in Offing

By KEN DUNN, '34

WHILE your Athens correspondent beats out this sports piece for the Alumnus, Coaches Don Peden and Bill Trautwein are down there hard by the Great Hock-Hocking River getting ready to lead their Bobcat forces into one of the severest football storms that has ever blown this way. On successive Saturdays Ohio must meet Miami, Cincinnati, Dayton, and Ohio Wesleyan. A mighty assignment for a team that received its worst defeat in 19 years, 47-0, at the hands of inspired Purdue, could only tie Marshall, 13-13, and defeat Kent State by a lone touchdown, 6-0.

Beating Miami never comes under the heading of an afternoon's lark, and the Redskins are powerful this season. Undeclared in four starts, Frank Wilton's team is listed as the team to beat for the conference title now held by the Bobcats, and the odds are top-heavy against Ohio. However, should Bill Jurkovic get back in the Ohio backfield the Bobcat will not be an easy animal to control.

Jurkovic was carried off the field in the second quarter of the Purdue game with a wrenched knee and has been kept out of action ever since. With his incapacity, Ohio's offensive machinery, that had been geared to the former Canton McKinley star stalled. Monk Montgomery, Bellefontaine sophomore who has replaced Jurk, has been playing a great game for his 148 pounds, but he cannot pound the line or block with the ability of the Cantonian.

With Jurkovic playing the tailback position, the Bobcats have one of the best backfields ever assembled under Don Peden. Johnny Chernitski, all-Buckeye last fall, is still a very capable and dangerous ball carrier when provided even a minimum amount of interference. Woody Wills, all-Buckeye in 1933, returned to school this fall and with Claire Dunn, is taking excellent care of the fullbacking. Len Janiak, 195-pound sophomore halfback from Cleveland South, is developing slower than expected but at the same time is a valuable man to have around. For reserves Peden has Montgomery, for pounds and inches the best back in the conference; Charles Bennett, a hard-driving, fast-stepping back, who was a high school sensation at Middleport and is only kept from a regular post because of his inferior blocking; Wendell Diehl, letterman the past two years; George Boehk, reliable at all times; Ralph Mohler, sophomore who is coming along in a hurry under Peden's careful guidance; and Battleship Marcks, a real ball carrier despite his five-feet-four-inches.

A team with an array of backfield talent such as Ohio has can never be counted out. They gained over 200 yards against Purdue and have kept up that average in the other two games despite slippery footing. They will gain ground against Miami, Cincinnati, Dayton, and Ohio Wesleyan. Should the Ohio line buckle down to real football and the backs play as well defensively as they have offensively, the Bobcats are going to be tough to flag down.

It is in the first line of defense that Ohio has been outplayed this fall. Bill Trautwein, noted for his ability to weld iron lines in the past, has had considerable trouble replacing such Ohio greats as Paul Halleck, Art Lewis, Don Burnison, Ed Holmquist, Anton Sintic, and George DeStefano of last year's fine Ohio team. Only Bill Morgan, end, and Dan Donofrio, guard, are regulars left over from last fall. Donofrio has been playing the best football of his life but Morgan has been handicapped all season with injuries. The rest of the line is made up of last year's reserves and sophomores. The veterans have been somewhat disappointing while the newcomers have been slow in developing. The tackle posts in particular have been troublesome. At present Harley Nelson and Woody Wood, both carryovers from last year are at these important positions. Their play has been up and down, sensational one minute and amazingly weak the next. However, both Nelson and Wood have shown that they are capable of playing good football and may at any time get off in high gear. However, should they continue at their present undependable pace, that approaching storm we mentioned will surely engulf the Bobcats' chances for a successful season.

DAN DONOFRIO, Guard

For reserves Trautwein has Alfred Carter, a sophomore who came up from nowhere to start the Marshall game and after a quarter of exceptional promise had to be helped from the field with an injured knee; Bill Rodgers, New Lexington sophomore, who played well in a relief role against Purdue, and while being groomed for a regular berth dislocated his elbow; and Chester Adameczyk and Joe Chetzk, two sophomore stalwarts from Cleveland.

The ends are in good hands with three lettermen and a top-notch sophomore taking care of these posts. The veterans are Bill Morgan, Dick Irelan, and Mel Platzke. The sophomore, Paul Wilcox, Shelby, was personally responsible for Ohio's tie with Marshall. A few minutes after the Herd scored their first touchdown, Wilcox broke through Marshall's line, intercepted a lateral and never stopped until he had covered 76 yards for a touchdown. In the fourth period, with Ohio trailing 13-6, Wilcox scooped up a punt that had been blocked by Wood and carried the ball from the Marshall 48 to the six where he was run out of bounds. Ohio scored four plays later, and Woody Wills place-kicked the extra point to tie the score. Watch this boy. He promises to bring back memories of Burke, Grammer, and Collins. Mat Ivory, sophomore from Fairport Harbor is—(continued on page 10.)

Here and There Among the Alumni

WALTER O. ALLEN, '10, principal of the Des Moines, Iowa, junior high school, represented Ohio University at the recent inauguration of Dr. C. E. Friley as president of Iowa State College at Ames.

The accounting firm of Keller, Kirschner & Martin, certified public accountants, has been selected to act as the faculty in Columbus for the American Academy of Accountancy. Associated with this firm are two sons of the senior partner, JOHN G. KELLER, JR., '22, and LAWRENCE D. KELLER, '22. The latter is the husband of the former ELMA DULANEY, '20.

After eight successful years as principal of the Gallia Academy High School at Gallipolis, EDWIN E. HIGGINS, '25, has been elevated to the superintendency of the entire city system. Prior to going to Gallipolis, Mr. Higgins had taught at East Palestine. He is highly regarded as a "school man" and is prominent in civic affairs. In May, for the 33rd consecutive year, the G. A. H. S. was given highest rating by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The school was one of the first in the state to be thus approved by the association.

HIGGINS, '25

HAROLD GIESECKE, '29, formerly with the real estate department of the Port of New York Authority, has accepted a position on the electrical engineering staff of the Federal Ship-building and Dry Dock Co., Kearney, N. J. Engineer Giesecke received an M. S. degree from Columbia University on June 2.

After engaging in research work at Clark University last year, PHIL SHURRAKER, '32 (M.A.), former biology instructor at Ohio University, has accepted a research position in physiological psychology at the University of Illinois.

Two members of Ohio University's 1935 Buckeye championship football team are holding contracts in the National Professional League. ART LEWIS, '36, a member of the "Little All-America" team, is making the headlines as a tackle with the New York Giants, while BOB SNYDER, '36, is a triple-threatener in the backfield of the Pittsburgh Pirates. PAUL HALECK, '36, who just missed the Olympic Games by inches, as a shot-putter, turned down an offer from the Chicago Bears and accepted a position as football coach at Dover (Ohio) High School.

As a member of the English Speaking Union, DARRELL HERRON, '24, high school English instructor in Hillside, N. J., used the Union's Dartmouth House, London, as headquarters and a point of departure during his visit to Europe last summer. Places of literary and historical importance, as well as famous art centers, were the subjects of Mr. Herron's keenest interest.

W. H. DURKEE, '16, who still prefers

"Bill" as a monicker, was a visitor in the Alumni Office on Oct. 16. Mr. Durkee, of Des Moines, is assistant state director for the National Youth Administration in Iowa.

"Governor Alf Landon is a doin' boss—not a show boss." That's the way F. STANLEY CROOKS, '06, Columbus attorney, describes the Republican presidential candidate whom he knew as a boyhood playmate in Marietta. In discussing the candidate, Mr. Crooks recalled the secret club rooms of the "gang," and Governor Landon's dislike for a fight if an amicable settlement of difficulties were possible. The Landons and Crooks lived within a few steps of each other on the west side of Marietta.

How small is the world! MARY DEVLIN, '30, Cleveland teacher, a sister IRENE DEVLIN, '23, executive secretary of Ohio University, and a niece, BERNADINE SPRAGUE, '37, European visitors last summer, were strolling through Westminster Abbey in London when they chanced upon Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith and Betty Morris who had likewise gone abroad for their vacations. Dr. Smith (history) and Miss Morris (art) are members of the Ohio University faculty. The Misses Devlin and Sprague caught glimpses of King Edward during the celebration of the British monarch's birthday. On the return crossing their boat approached the iceberg region near the southern coast of Labrador where as many as ten huge "bergs" were sighted at one time.

GEORGE MARSHALL, '29, for several years an instructor and athletic coach in St. Paul's (Rikkyo) University, Tokio, Japan, returned to the United States early last summer. Following his departure from Nippon a Japanese newspaper published the charge that he had been guilty of espionage while a teacher in the capital city. Coach Marshall, on a nine-months' furlough to the homeland, vigorously denied the charge, which he says is not infrequently leveled at Americans by certain Japanese newspapers and patriotic societies that are "hysterical" about fancied espionage against their country.

ELVIN R. O'NEILL, '29, '36 (A.M.), former instructor in Ames-Bern High School, an Athens county school, has been elected superintendent of the Mechanicsburg (Athens suburb) Schools. The position is a responsible one since Ohio University uses the system for some of its rural education and teacher training projects. In 1932, Mr. O'Neill married FRANCES MORTON, '30, '31 (A.M.), daughter of PROF. J. R. MORTON, '05, (chemistry) and Mrs. Morton, Athens.

MARGARET HELEN JAMES, '36, (M.A.), daughter of President and Mrs. Herman G. James, Ohio University, has accepted a position as dean of girls in the high school at Portsmouth.

MARY A. STALDER, '29, an art student at Ohio University and in New York City for several years, is teaching art this year in Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas.

After engaging in Y. W. C. A. and Girl Reserve Work in Toledo, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Asheville, N. C., HATTIE CAMPBELL, '28, has taken up duties as business and industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Troy, N. Y.

Opening up his local paper on the morning of June 9, J. CARLOS DE MELLO, '12, of Rio de Janeiro, read of the visit of the Brazilian Ambassador, Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, to Ohio University to deliver the June Commencement address. The newspaper story stirred old memories and Senator de Mello was moved to write to President H. G. James, in part, as follows:

"Being, I believe, the first Brazilian to take advantage of the facilities offered by O. U. graduating in 1912, I beg to make also mine the words addressed by Dr. Aranha to the students on the occasion.

"Twenty-four years have passed and having lost contact with most of the good friends I had the fortune to make during my stay in that city, I wish to advise you that there is one thing one never forgets, and that is the good old O. U. spirit, based upon the personality of a Dr. Ellis, of a Prof. Treudley, the dynamism of a Prof. Atkinson, as well as on the feared-by-all nervousism of the Master of Mathematics (Prof. Hoover, I believe). Their names as their lessons are never forgotten in spite of the time gone by.

"I am planning a trip to the United States in 1937, and how pleasant would it be could the 1912 friends meet again, and sing together the dear old songs, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their start into a new world."

The De Mello address is Rua Xavier da Silveira 101, Copacabana, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, S. A.

GERALDINE C. HOPE, '22, 2-yr., Athens, is treasurer of the Ohio State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. For the past thirteen and one-half years she has been a faithful and efficient assistant in Ohio University's Alumni Office.

HOPE, '22

DR. FRANCIS H. CARDOT, '30, a graduate of Temple University's medical school, has hung out his shingle for the practice of his profession in Fairview, a city in northern Pennsylvania.

DANA T. BURNS, '17, head of the department of speech at Baldwin-Wallace College, is the author of a newly-published textbook, "The Principles of Oral Interpretation." Among the subjects given consideration in the book are "Technique of the Lecture Recital," "Story Telling," and "The Physiological Technique Involved in the Portrayal of Emotions." The text is beautifully and appropriately illustrated with pictures taken by Prof. and Mrs. Burns (MARIE CALDWELL, '17) during their numerous visits to Europe.

MARY LOU HUDSON, '36, president of Ohio University's Women's League last year, is teaching home economics in Amanda.

Inaugurations of university presidents have occurred quite frequently during the past year. Ohio University being one of the oldest universities in the land is of course always inclined to send a representative to these inaugural exercises. The most recent investiture of administrative authority was that at Geneva, N. Y., on Oct. 2, when William Alfred Eddy was installed as president of Hobart and William Smith Colleges. HELEN V. BOYD, '27, who is a supervising critic teacher at the State Normal College, Geneseo, N. Y., represented her alma mater at the Geneva event.

Bobcat trainer and wrestling coach THOR OLSON, '27, received both a master's degree and a daughter-in-law last summer. The advanced degree came from the University of Michigan, while he can thank his son, Hjalmer, an Ohio University sophomore, for the new and attractive addition to the family circle.

While attending the Westminster Choir School conducted in Princeton, N. J., by the famous choral director, Dr. Finley Williamson, LUCILLE CUTLER, '31, '33 (M.A.), is serving as minister of music at the Presbyterian Church in Titusville, N. J. Miss Cutler is a senior in the Princeton school.

Two Cleveland attorneys have issued formal announcements of the opening of offices for the general practice of law. ROBERT MERKLE, '17, for the past fifteen years deputy clerk in the Cuyahoga County probate court, is located at 714 Leader Building. To a general practice, he is adding the specialized practice of probate law. GEORGE M. BROWN, '31, may now be found at 1180 Union Trust Building. For several years Mr. Brown has enjoyed the very valuable experience of being associated, as an assistant, with Cleveland's well-known juvenile court judge, Harry L. Eastman. "Brownie," an all-Ohio football player, has also been associated with the Western Reserve University coaching staff, an activity which he will continue.

Appointments to teaching positions in the Athens city schools this fall brought two Green and White grads back to the scenes of their campus days. WAYNE MATTHEWS, '31, was named principal of the East Side School, and ETHEL WOOLF, '28, was appointed supervisor of art. Both have their master's degrees. Mr. Matthews has taught at Buchtel, Ohio, while Miss Woolf has taught at DePauw University and in the public schools of Champaign, Ill.

JOHN WHITING, '36, a journalism major in last June's class, is now a re-write man on the editorial staff of the Literary Digest. Being the possessor of an exceedingly fine camera, Whiting has also been assigned to secure pictures, of the "candid" variety, of notables and others currently in the public eye. A number of photographs in recent issues of the weekly have carried the credit line "Photos by John Whiting." As a re-write man, it is Whiting's job to take facts and figures compiled by a routine editor, who watches and clips all news pertaining to a particular subject, and then combine them in a final summary or analysis for publication.

Mrs. Ella Kurtz Dowd, widow of the late DR. JOHN W. DOWD, '69, a member of a pioneer Athens family, died at her home in Toledo, Sept. 12. Doctor Dowd, a former superintendent of schools in Troy and Toledo and a one-time president of the University of Toledo, was for nearly half a century a trustee of Ohio University.

ALEC C. KERR, '16, reports a return to Antwerp, Belgium, where he was port director for the U. S. Shipping Board in 1923. He is now European general manager of the Lykes Bros. - Ripley Steamship Co., operators of the "Southern States Line." His move from Hamburg, Germany, to the Belgian city brings him closer to the center of his activities. Mr. Kerr's marine shipping interests have in the past called him to Dublin, Ireland, and Rotherdam, Netherlands.

Homecoming

Ohio vs. Cincinnati

OCTOBER 31, 1936

Will You Be Back?

Mrs. Mildred Ruhl Woolweaver, wife of HERBERT E. WOOLWEAVER, '30, Sidney, died July 22 after an illness of five weeks' duration. Besides her husband, an ace hurdler and dashman on Bobcat track teams of his day, Mrs. Woolweaver is survived by three small children: a son, Garry Edward, and twin daughters, Suzanne and Joanne. Mr. Woolweaver is teaching and coaching in the high school at Sidney.

A fund of $5000, established in 1929 by DR. PHILIP ZENNER '70, Cincinnati physician, to be loaned to prisoners upon their release from the Ohio penitentiary, has dwindled to 45 cents, it was recently revealed. The depletion of the fund is directly attributed to the depression during which unemployed borrowers have been unable to repay their loans. Dr. Zenner, who considers the period immediately following the release of prisoners as "the most dangerous period they have to face," established the fund to help tide them through. It is but one of this Ohioan's public-spirited philanthropies.

Mrs. Anson B. Reeder (PAULINE SWANSON, '29), who has engaged extensively in newspaper, magazine, and film studio writing in Hollywood, has been chosen as Pacific coast representative of the Taplinger Air Advertising Agency. As such, Mrs. Reeder, who writes under her maiden name, will handle the publicity accounts of George Burns and Gracie Allen, Eddie Cantor, Guy Lombardo, and Bob Ripley of "Believe It or Not." Movie Classic, Town and Country, and Vanity Fair are among the magazines in which Miss Swanson's stories and interviews have appeared in recent months.

EDNA ARUNDEL, '21, for nine years dean of women and supervisor of student teaching at Rio Grande College, Rio Grande, Ohio, is pursuing graduate work and teaching social science and geography in the department of education at Yale University. Miss Arundel was succeeded at Rio Grande by VIVIAN SPURGEON, '32. Miss Spurgeon was supervisor of primary education in Mahoning county last year.

For the fourth time since the tournament was originated 13 years ago, COACH B. T. "BUTCH" GROVER, '19, Bobcat basketball mentor, annexed the South-eastern Ohio golf championship this fall. He has finished second in this classic four times. Carding a 112 for 27 holes, "Butch" also won the Athens Country Club championship this fall for the seventh time in 12 years of competition.

ROBERT W. WAGNER, '34, has returned to the University of Michigan where he hopes to complete work for a Ph. D. degree in the field of mathematics next June. He is the recipient this year of the Rockham Fellowship valued at $1,000.

Rosalind Kelley, daughter of FRED F. KELLEY, '12, 2-yr., formerly of Youngstown and now of Los Angeles, is cast prominently in one of the season's interesting motion pictures, "Girl's Dormitory." In addition to appearing in the chorus, which enjoys frequent "close-up" attention from the camera man, Miss Kelley acted as a "stand-in" or double for the French actress, Simone Simon, in the storm and diving scenes. Miss Kelley is now under contract to appear in a picture with Patsy Kelley and Lyda Roberts.

RUTH PRINDLE, '34, was awarded third prize of $350 in an autograph contest sponsored by the Gentle Woman Magazine of New York City.

HOWARD G. DANFORD, '28, city recreational director and head of the physical education department in the Lima public schools, has resigned his position to accept a similar one in Kansas City, Mo. Like "Bid" EDMUND, '28, K. MARK COWEN, '22, and BERNARD "JERRY" HUGHES, '30, Director Danford achieved a wide reputation in the field of his endeavors. Edmund has recently come from New Jersey to head the recreation program of the city of Akron. Cowen, for several years recreational director in Roanoke, Va., has just been made director of parks in addition to his other duties. Hughes, a member of the Ohio University faculty, has enjoyed national recognition for his public playground programs.

Fortunes To Be Determined

taking good care of the center post left vacant by the excellent E. Holmquist. Danny Donofrio has a running mate built along his own rugged lines at left guard. He is Stanley Iwucz, all-scholastic star at Cleveland South two years ago. Reserve guards are Stanley Caruso, letterman, and Ray Csenek, well-built Cleveland sophomore.

There's your Bobcat team, alumni, but come down and see them yourself when they stack up against Cincinnati on Homecoming, Oct. 31. That game should be a corker.

MARRIAGES

EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of the large number of marriages to be reported and the brief space available for recording these happy events, it is necessary to skeletonize the announcements, omitting many interesting details. Henceforth, following the names of the bride and groom, only information as to the GROOM'S occupation, when known, and the place of residence will be given. The names of Ohio University alumni will appear in CAPITAL AND SMALL CAPITAL LETTERS.
